

MAMBA Case Lube

Case Lube is generally available as a mineral oil type:

- To remove mineral oil, cases are often washed with acetone or thinners;
- The problem with this is that these products also have an oil base and also leave a measure of oil residue behind;
- The effect of this is clearly seen by observing that some propellant will adhere to the case neck when using recently washed cases.

The great advantage of MAMBA Case Lube is set out below:

- MAMBA Case Lube is water soluble and can thus be removed completely with water. To ensure that all oil is removed we recommend using a soapy solution;
- MAMBA Case Lube is also bio-degradable and thus environmentally friendly;
- MAMBA Case Lube has a particularly high lubrication property when under pressure and is thus very suitable if used prior to resizing cases.
